JURY DECLARIES GERMAN GUILTY OF WILFUL MURDER

KINSALE, Ireland, May 10.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the death of the defendant upon the facts of the Lusitania returned the following verdict today:

"The jury finds that this appalling crime was contrary to international law and the conventions of all civilized nations, and we therefore charge the officers of the submarine and the German Emperor and the government of Germany, under whose orders they acted, with the crime of wilful and wholesale murder."

By Associated Press.
QUEENSTOWN, May 10.—Beginning at noon today at Connel Frost's order, the bodies of the identified Americans killed when the Lusitania was torpedoed last Friday, covered with the Stars and Stripes, were removed from the morgues and placed side by side in the forward line office on the water front. As they were carried through the streets by British sailors the crowds cheered.

These brown coffins contained the bodies of Charles Froehn, Isaac Trumbull of Bridgeport, Conn.; Mrs. Henry MacLean of New York; Charles Stevens of Atlanta City; Dr. F. S. Pearson of New York; Dr. Walker of New York; Dr. Pearson's secretary; Mrs. McBride, Hugh Compton, 17 years old; C. P. Brodbeck of Boston; Herbert Ellis of New York; and Mrs. Spelman of Detroit.

Mr. Froehn's secretary arrived today to take charge of his employer's body. One of the survivors tonight identified the body of Mrs. Anna S. Smith of New York, the American widow of an English nobleman who subsequently married an American and had been living in New York. She was on her way to London. Her body will be sent back to the United States as well as those of the other sons of them starting tonight.

A whole company of British soldiers today completed the digging of three large graves, each 30 by 29 feet, in which 110 odd unidentified dead will be buried tomorrow.

The moving of the bodies up the hill to the cemetery will begin at 5:30 A. M. and continue until 1:30. Then at the last ton or so dozen men will be sent to the cemetery, and with German and march to the graves. Mounted police, soldiers and civilians will participate. Then there will be a short service, choral singing of all creed joining in saying prayers.

Many children and little babies still lie in the morgues like so many dolls. The townpeople covered them with cloths and march to the graves. Mounted police, soldiers and civilians will participate. Then there will be a short service, choral singing of all creed joining in saying prayers.

The presence of so many children on the Lusitania was due to the fact that Canadian women are going to England to join relatives while their husbands are at the front.

No single body was brought in today from the spot where the Lusitania disappeared, but some bodies may yet be found if a storm does not scatter them. There will not be so great a number picked up however, as was the case in the North Atlantic after the Titanic disaster, for that vessel remained adrift so long all on deck had ample time to carefully adjust themselves.

CONGRESS MAY ACT ON LUSITANIA CASE.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—President Wilson continued his consideration of the Lusitania disaster in session at the White House, but it was indicated that before many days have passed he will let the country know what steps he has decided upon.

While officials reiterated that the president would not allow himself to be hurried into a hasty decision, he does that public sentiment favors prompt legislation of what the president will do.

Delegates from all parts of the country continued to pour into the White House, counseling various courses. Some advocated war, but the majority of them counseled peace, al-

PRESS HEADQUARTERS OF THE AUSTRIAN ARMY, Western Galicia, May 10.—The first stage of the battle of West Galicia has been virtually concluded. The victorious troops under the German General von Mackensen, after successfully breaking through all three fortified lines of the Russian front are assembling and reforming for a new offensive. They are bringing forward supplies left behind in the dash to the rear.

While nothing is mentioned of the Lusitania disaster by name, it was known that the two officials talked of it specifically. It was the ambassador's first visit to the department since the disaster. The secretary received the ambassador himself and greeted him cordially. When Ambassador Bernstorff came from the secretary's office, he parried all questions by saying he could not talk, being under a promise to Secretary Bryan that anything should be said by the secretary. His only real response was that he would go to appointment with President Wilson.

WITH FEAR DEATHLY LAST WORD OF CHARLES FROHMAN

LONDON, May 10.—"Why fear death? It is the most beautiful adventure in life," were the last words of Charles Froehn before he went down with the Lusitania, according to René Jolyot, an American actress with whom he was talking calmly just before the end came.

Miss Jolyot, who was among the survivors, said she and Mr. Froehn were standing on deck as the Lusitania headed over to Liverpool, although Mr. Froehn believed the ship was doomed.

It was after reaching this decision that he declared he had no fear of death.

LIVERPOOL, May 10.—Charles Louch, chairman of the Cunard Steamship Company, today gave the following signed statement to the Associated Press:

GERMAN AIRMEN RAID
ENGLAND; LITTLE DAMAGE.

LONDON, May 10.—Two airships are reported to have dropped bombs on Westerly-on-Sea, near Southend, but no fatalities have been reported. Warning of the approach of hostile aircraft was given Southend at 2:52 this morning. Several machines took part in the raid, but whether they were Zeppelins or aeroplanes the residents were unable to state as the weather was cloudy.

Bombs struck houses in various parts of the town, but no deaths have been reported. One man and his wife were badly burned in a fire started by an incendiary bomb. One resident told of three bombs dropping near his home, none of which caused damage. It is reported that several shops were burned at Leigh, a town near UNIONTOWN, May 10.—Judge J. C. Work in orphans court today handed down an order in the estate of J. Godfrey Keeler, deceased, in which the claim of Susan Keyser for $250 for the care of her mother, Mrs. Amy Ann Keeler, was allowed. The amount in the hands of the administrator, S. S. Kerr of South Connellsville, however, is insufficient to pay her that amount, and after paying taxes to the state of $25.00, the balance of $245.78 was ordered to be paid to Mrs. Keyser.

In health caused George B. Shaffer, 75 years old, a retired farmer of East Liberty, and a Civil War veteran, to commit suicide yesterday morning at his home by shooting. Mr. Shaffer had been in poor health for the past several years and of late had been suffering intense pain. He was unable to rest and it had been his custom to sit up all night in a rocking chair. Yesterday morning, while his wife was sleeping, he secured a revolver and fired a bullet through his right temple. Around the hole of the bullet his wife ran to him and found him sitting in a chair with the gun in his hand, and in a dying condition. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but life was extinct when the physician arrived. Funeral services from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock with Rev. J. B. Hayes of the Flatwoods Baptist Church officiating. Interment in Connellsville.

Mr. Shaffer was a native of Fayette county all his life and was widely known throughout the county. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in Company G, Sixteenth Pennsylvania

Volunteers, and served throughout the war. He was a farmer in the vicinity of Dawers for a number of years and then lived in Uniontown for the past few years. In addition to his wife, he is survived by the following children: Mrs. George Lyon of Connellsville; Mrs. Ella Dunn of Franklin township; Mrs. Elizabeth Ritter-house of Shock; Mrs. John Tate of Juniata, and one son, James Shaffer of Juniata.

Mother's Day brought unusual attendance at the churches and Sunday schools yesterday, and never before were mothers, dead or living, paid such a tribute in speech and song. The custom of wearing a white carnation or some other white flower; or in many cases, mother's favorite flower, was generally observed. In some of the churches members who did not have a flower were presented with one.

At the morning services, the pastoral service was on themes appropriate to Mother's Day. Some of them also took this subject for their evening discourses.

Men of the Christian Church who are away from home wrote letters to their mothers between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. This plan, however, was not confined to the men of this church for many another man imbued with the spirit of the day, sent a message home during that hour.

All records for attendance were brought at the Christian Church and Sunday school yesterday. At Sunday school there were 519 present, this being the greatest number ever known at any school in the history of the church. The men's class totaled 121.

The girls won the contest over the blues with 74 members compared with their opponents' 57. The total enrollment of men's and young men's classes far exceeded this with 174.

There was a record-breaking attendance at the Presbyterian Sunday school yesterday, 401 being on hand.

The offering, too, was unusually generous, the members being urged to contribute to a fund for a mother's memorial window in the new church. The total was a total of $194.02.

Under the new form of government, the Presbyterian Sunday school is growing rapidly and it is expected that the 500 mark will be reached by the time the new church is ready for occupancy in September.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school and church service were held separately Sunday school.

The main auditorium was completely filled.

Services throughout the day were crowded.

The organist report was that Hul-laid declared during his visit to Pittsburgh last January that he had no difficulty in getting a car at Coalbrook-dale, and in his will he provided that his conductor assassinated him and threw him from the car. He suffered serious injuries to his left hand and arm, and that the use of this hand and arm are partially destroyed.

Major Marlowe directed the chief to make an investigation of the accident to determine if the party was exceeding the speed limit, so far as is known.

No one saw the accident except the occupants of the car.

What's In the Cup?

The flavor may be agreeable, but appetite isn't the only thing to be considered.

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a powerful drug which is a frequent cause of indigestion, constipation, nervousness, heart trouble and other ills.

Some persons are strong enough to use coffee for a time without apparent harm, but repeated doses of its subtle, cumulative drug, caffeine, sooner or later affects even the strong man or woman.

Any coffee drinker will benefit from a change to

Instant Postum

This pure food-drink has a snappy tang, very like the Old Gov't Java, but it contains no caffeine, nor any other harmful ingredient. It is made of selected wheat, a little wholesome molasses and is pure, invigorating and delicious.

And Instant Postum is so easy to make. Put a level teaspoonful in a cup, add hot water and sugar and cream to taste.

The convenience of Instant Postum is seen at a glance. Sold in 30c and 50c tins. Some prefer Postum Cereal, the original form—which must be well boiled, 15c and 25c pints.

Grocers sell both kinds, the flavor is equally delicious and the cost per cup is about the same.

DUNBAR TOWNSHIP AGAIN WINS FROM HIGH SCHOOL NINE

Locals Outfit the Visitors, but Rugged Fielding Is Costly.

THEY PILED UP EIGHT ERRORS

Sneak Pitches Well, but Gets Poor Support; Leisenring Lots Take Advantage of All the Breaks and Romp Home Easy Winners in the Contest.

High School lost its second game to Dunbar Township High School Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Field on the West Side, by a score of 5 to 2. The locals had more hits and got more men on bases than Leisenring, but they also had the greater number of errors, and they were costly ones at that.

The visitors got their first two runs in the first inning when the ball got past Minerd, and was not recovered by Mudigan, who should have been backing him up. After that it was a battle between the pitchers, until the sixth, when Connellsville got a lone run, Leighty met the ball, knocking it through center field and made three bases on it. Then Sison singled, bringing Leighty home. The same two made the second score, Leighty being on base and Sison bunting him in.

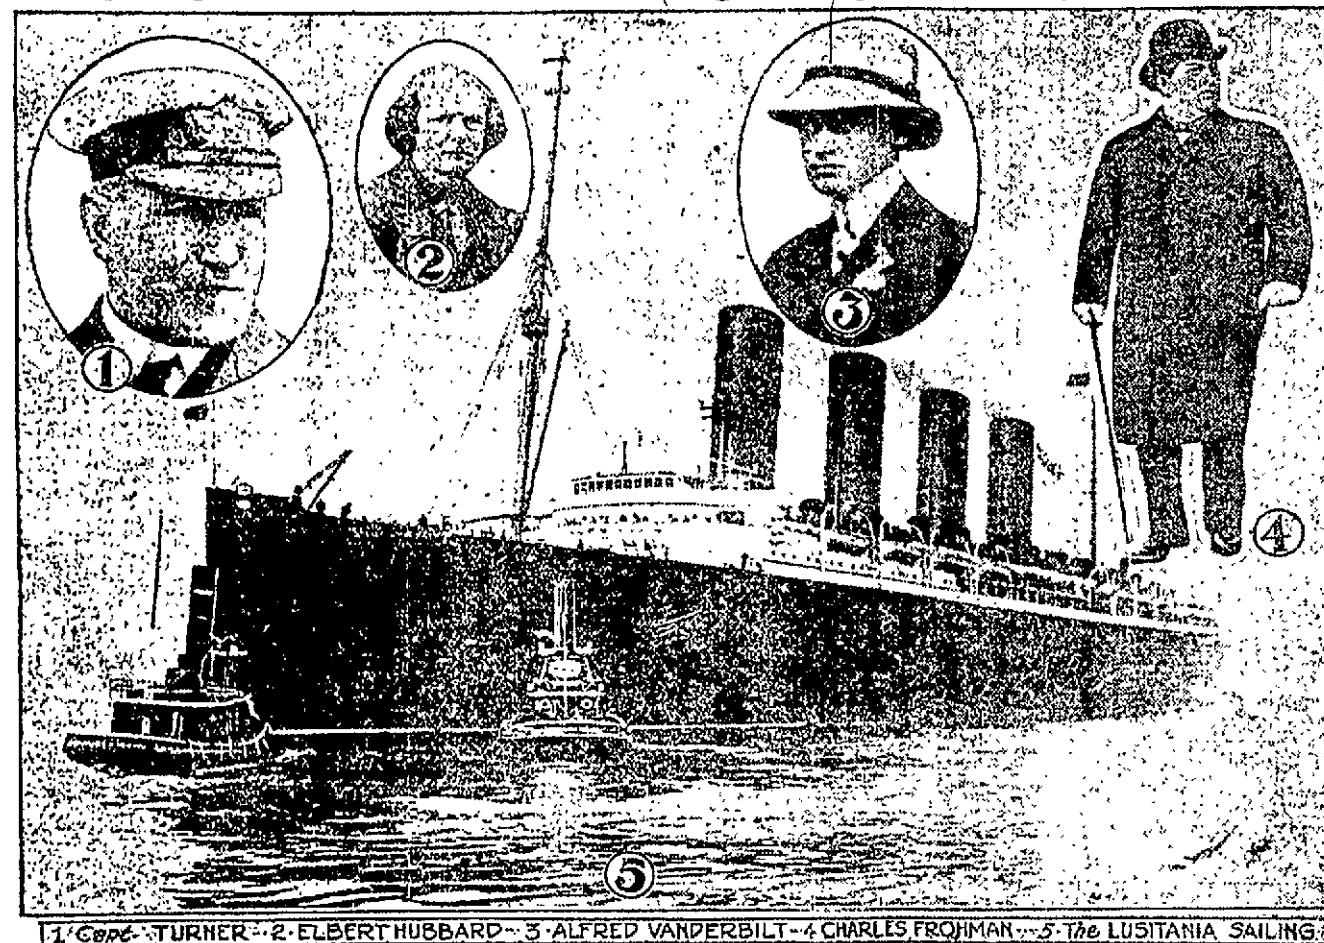

The locals had chances to score almost every inning. In the ninth, just after "Cutter" Marshall had been caught stealing second, because he could not get his lead off his mate, but with no one in, Marshall redoubled himself the next inning, however, by his fielding and with his next turn at bat stole safely.

The pitching of Barnhart and Sneak was good, Barnhart was hit often than Sneak, but was backed by good fielding, the score was held down. Leisenring got eight safe hits from the local southpaw, and they all counted.

The next game of the locals will probably be with the North Union Township High School on the Athletic Field. It will not be played for two weeks, however, as the boys of both schools will go to Washington this week to enter the national meet there.

Another thing that will be necessary to hold up the baseball team is more receipts from the tags that are sold to cover expenses. Large crowds attend each game, but not so many fans seem. It will be necessary for this plan to succeed before a foothold can be placed in the field next fall, as no admission can be charged, there being no field enclosed by a fence that could be used. KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—if You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of taking a salient complexion—dark rings under your eyes—dark circles look in your face—full eyes with sparkle.

A doctor will tell you ninety percent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards' a well-known physician in Ohio, prescribes a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet powerful.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will find Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets in every drug store. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Take Over Dutch Bottom, 13 to 35 To Play Swingers.

The Davidson third team defeated the Dutch Bottom third team on Saturday, 13 to 3, despite the fact that Dutch Bottom brought in some first team players and pitcher batters. Manager of Dutch Bottom, John, lifted the ball into the outfield, where he played a sensational game, pulling down long flies and shamming the ball to all corners of the lot.

Tomorrow evening the Davidson youngsters will cross bats with Swingers. They are anxious to go games with any team of their class in the region.

STAR JUNCTION

STAR JUNCTION, May 10.—Star Junction journeyed to Smock Saturday and won in a seven-inning game.

12 to 1. Orbin Carson, pitching for Star Junction, allowed only two hits in his innings. M. Yonchek pitched two innings for Smock Junction.

Star Junction second nine played at Vicksburg last Thursday and won 26 to 10.

EUROPE AND AMERICA.
The prominently advertised opinion of Lord Churchill referred to the effect that the sinking of the Lusitania was for the deliberate purpose of forcing the United States to declare war against Germany seems to need a disclaimer. The average American mind can understand why Great Britain would want us to declare war against Germany, but it utterly fails to grasp the idea that Germany wants any more trouble than it has at present. It might be argued that Germany is so completely surrounded by hostile nations that one more will not matter much, but that is a negative argument, and a poor one at that.

The war is evidently far from a conclusion in spite of the hopeful pronouncements of the bull elements in brokerage circles whose duty and interest make it always optimistic. In the beginning it was freely predicted that the war would not last over six weeks because Russia was so enormous that the European nations could not afford it. It has been in progress nine months and is no nearer conclusion than it was in the beginning. The war has become a sieve extending over 1,700 miles of battle front, with millions of men engaged and the employment of agencies of destruction never before dreamed of, yet during that long and exhaustive period of fighting no decisive advantage has been gained by either side; nothing, at least, that would warrant the assumption that either side must sooner or later yield. The predictions of peace are thus far mere gambles. The end may be near, but it is certainly not in sight and from present indications it is months off, maybe years.

In the meantime this country is undoubtedly being benefited by the war. The demand for our products has been increased because of the fact that European crops have been diminished by the war. Our mills and factories are also filling orders for munitions of war offensive and otherwise. This business is not overwhelming in its proportions but it has served to mitigate the bit-felt effects of the financial tariff.

The question has been anxiously asked: Will business be better or worse after the war is over?

From present indications there is plenty of time to ponder over this problem, but in general it may be said that if the war is prolonged until 1916, and the Republic in party is returned to power at that time, leaving the repeal of the Demor Tariff law and a return to Protectionist principles, there will be ample justification for recent predictions that this country is entering upon one of the greatest periods of prosperity it has ever known.

This assumes that we do not become involved in the European war. It is hardly probable that this will happen if we keep cool and make due allowance for the state of mind in the belligerent zone.

THE MISSING LINK.

The assumption that another mile of permanent road will be laid this summer in Monongalia County is not warranted, as that the section of highway between the city and the Pleasant Hill section of the county is a distinct disgrace to our citizens.

This disgrace is incurred by the fact that beginning at the Westmoreland county line at Fairfield, the road is a continuous permanent improvement, and it is emphasized by the further fact that beyond Mount Pleasant and many miles outside of the same desirability there is nothing.

There ought to be a determined effort to improve this most undesirable highway in modern fashion, in connection with the new school building at the center of the town. There should be another between Connellsville and Mount Pleasant where good permanent roads for Greenhills and Latrobe and Elizabethtown, with connections to other counties.

The Good Roads forces of Fayette county ought to join in a campaign for the Mount Pleasant highway 4 miles long.

RELATION AND INDEPENDENCE.
"Is this to coin," asks the Uniontown Standard in commenting on the fact that the Courier has implicitly criticized President Wilson and the editor brought such facts to the public department of the government in violation of the spirit of the Constitution one federal and state.

"It is," shouted the supporters of private power in the Virginia Times Herald. "How else, when Mr. Henry made his speech, for that constitutional idea which the American people now apply, as well as it is applied when the Virginians of this state make the most of it, and the imperialistic ones, and if it be to coin on the part of the editor to bring to the attention and cause to support the people and themselves when he thinks it is appropriate to the supreme law of the land, it will be most effective."

The Uniontown Standard observes that the child labor law forbids boys to compete until they have passed the age when boys are quite the brutes which form character. Some forms of uplift end in dropping the victim into the fire.

ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS.
The Anti-suffrage element among the Pennsylvania women has organized and will insist on the adoption of the Women Suffrage amendment to the constitution.

The movement is interesting. It indicates that the women are not united in their desire for the ballot, in fact, the opposition declares that 50% of the women of Pennsylvania don't want the ballot.

I am certain that there has been no overwhelming demand from the women themselves for the enactment of the legislation submitting the question of their enfranchisement to the voters.

Perhaps the Woman Suffrage politicians have been too progressive in this matter. It is possible that it would have been better and safer politics to have submitted a preliminary referendum to see what the people really desired the ballot.

STARTING HIGH UP.

South Connellsville is making progress in the right direction. The power system has been planned and the plan for the approval of the state authority. The cost is put at $25,000. It is proposed to meet it by bonding bonds, and the approval of the people at the polls is said will be necessary. That endorsement should not be withheld on the contrary it should be hearty and unanimous. South Connellsville is a very borough. In beginning its improvements the first borough improvement should always be a sewer system. It lies at the bottom of all other improvements. It is the cornerstone of progress. It is infinitely more than that. It is the foundation of the public health. South Connellsville, we repeat, is starting right. Her next move should be to top off her unimproved southward territory.

THE JUDGE OF JUSTICE.

It must be provided for the judge when he is called for the right in forming an opinion. It is to be hoped he will have the attorney announce the following day that they have settled amicably, but much more gratifying to the average citizen who has been separated from his business and family up to Uniontown as a witness, and probably held there several days, is the announcement when the case is finally called that it has been settled or postponed. The Judge is paid in liberal salary by the state for his services, but in nine cases out of ten the witness never gets a cent of costs. Litigation is very wormwood business, especially to the witness. The juries of justice are sometimes poor juries.

The Connellsville fire department was called out a few days ago to save a private water works from being flooded. The statement is ambiguous but absolutely true. It may be added that if the Connellsville Water Company would send in a claim every time it is the subject of a hearing remarks, the fire companies would never cease running.

The German idea of war has never considered the innocent. There's a German for instance and there's the Lusitania.

The Fayette County Medical Society tells its patients that the particular form of cold known as "the grip" in over 2,000 years old, and still gripping its victims with vicious grip. As a bit of medical history, this may be interesting to the doctors, but there's nothing in it concerning to the patients.

The injury month of May sees many hell-brewing in International circles.

So there is nothing wrong with the United States but a little more of the wrong kind of tariff, says the Uniontown New England Standard. Right, course, inclusion, and the fact will be definitely more apparent if the way ends in defeat that Tariff law is responsible.

This assumes that we do not become involved in the European war. It is hardly probable that this will happen if we keep cool and make due allowances for the state of mind in the belligerent zone.

The Leavenworth motor car driver who has two run-downs to his credit in a few weeks had better run slower.

The suggestion that it is better to send food instead of money to friends in the belligerent zone assumes that delivery is certain. The assumption is rather doubtful in view of recent circumstances.

There will be no general clean-up in Connellsville this year, but there will be a general cleaning up just the same.

The early statements are bigger than they formerly were, but they are just as good for all that.

Money in Clarksville isn't enough. "Trade in Washington that's the stuff." One of the most attractive slogan of Clarksville West Virginia. It would fit any other town just as well, and probably does.

The Old Skool' gave the new school of amateur theatricals a hand run for the center of the stage.

Two new and promising leads which promise to pan out rich are reported on the Head Bottom chain.

The Sons of Veterans make a gallant start.

The Courier is responsible to nobody but the editor. It is consequently natural that its motives are sometimes misunderstood by syndicate agents.

Mother's Day was a great success. Mother is the one person in the world who is never entirely forgotten.

Exchange Etchings.

The Johnstown Democrat denounces a minimum charge for water, gas or electric service, where a meter is installed, as an absurdity and an imposition. The sentiment has the unspoken endorsement and approval of the consuming public.

The Greensburg Tribune opined that those who are in false fire alarms usually know about it in time to money. The state ought to provide a few workmen for them.

The Uniontown Record observes that the Child Labor Law forbids boys to compete until they have passed the age when boys are quite the brutes which form character. Some forms of uplift end in dropping the victim into the fire.

"DIDN'T WE WARN YOU?"Jitney BusesBy GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The Jitney bus is a contraption for making a perfect democracy out of the automobile.

Ten years ago only millionaires rode in automobiles. Five years ago only the propertied or the titled could afford to buy one. But now the street holds up three fingers at the street door and steps into a tonneau or carriage as if she had a tub full of courting cars at home.

The Jitney bus has found automobile which is trying to get into the market. It is a new illustration of the evolution of science. Ten years ago it took a four figure income to keep an automobile out of the repair shop. Today the brave young son puts his ruined father on the back and says, "Cheer up, dad. All the cars are broken down." And so it goes to afternoon. Then he takes the family out and supports the home by hauling passengers at five cents a head.

The Jitney bus also illustrates the power of words. It was impossible to find a millionaire to buy a jitney. It imports a delightful odor to everything with which it comes in contact. Agents wanted in every town. Simple packing and terms mailed to 10c. Address C. COOKSLY, Parke City, Pa.

DIPHTHERIA CASE ALARMS PEOPLE OF SCOTTDALE SUBURB

Six-Year-Old Child of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hough has Disease.

MOTHERS' DAY SERVICE GREAT

Young Men's Bible Class of Methodist Church Quiet Day Details of Unique and Beautiful Service That Crowds the Church; Other Mill Town Notes,

Special to The Courier

SCOTTDALE, May 10.—The people of that village, suburban village just beyond the White School House, on the extension of West Pittsburg street, are alarmed over an silent case of diphtheria which has manifested itself. The victim is Gilbert Hough, aged 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hough. He was out playing with the other children of that locality on Friday evening and was taken so violently ill with the disease that two physicians were called on Saturday who made two visits and administered antitoxin on Saturday and administered it again on Sunday.

MASSIMO VITALE

Weeks of local news stories of more tragic cases of diphtheria on the farms among which may be noted William L. Hough, a hansomew man, whose home, River Point, lies but a short distance from the public road, porch on the left of the stone house he lives in. J. M. Hough, who hails from the Green Farm, has put up a couple of long stretches of board fence, so as to run but rarely through this country. In his farm yard there is staked about a card of lumber which is to go into new building. Gilbert Hough has a new barn made, built from timber he has cut up and which is one of the pieces of lumber which fell a victim to a lightning bolt last summer. Not very far away John Hough is the possessor of a great big barn, that is very painted red, instead of white as it is, might be a part of Lancaster county scenes. Andrew Jackson Peck, Breege's neighbor, has put a new porch on the front of the plastered stone house he lives in that puts over the appearance of the place 100 per cent.

MOTHER'S DAY

The members which the Mothers' Day was observed for by the Young Men's Bible Class of the Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday was distinctly creditable. The young men provided the men and women with a white carnation each, and the pulpit was definitely decorated. A. E. Lewellen one of the class, made the introductory remarks, telling of the origin and state of the day. "Behold What Manner of Love Is This the beautiful true sun?" by Mrs. Mary Armstrong, Charles A. Lewellen and Ruth Sherrill, the mother of the Methodist Church, was the subject of the sermon, preached by Rev. J. Wesley Wilcox, Jr., president of the class, who told the story of Mrs. Sarah Weston. "Nothing to Them" was the song by the Keystone Lodge Chapter, Ralph Sheridan, J. Charchwitz, J. McLean and C. A. Lewellen. Rev. H. S. Liper, the pastor, made a brief and effective address on A. U. R. to Methodist Mothers, and Charles J. Charlesworth sang the tenor hymn solo "Will Wear a White Flower for You Mother." A. another consecration service closed the morning meeting. The church was crowded and church had to be closed out one-half hour. A large number present. A half dozen informants were sent to bring names to church who lived at a distance or who would have found it difficult to get to the service or otherwise.

NOTES

Statistics for April Loaded Car Movement Shows Large Daily Average.

The statistics of the loaded freight car movement of the Pennsylvania railroad for April, just made public, while not showing as large a degree of improvement as the drop in traffic on the passenger line has promised to indicate, nevertheless shows a slight increase, as it showed the largest daily average of loaded car movement of any month since October last, and a decrease of only 24 per cent from April, 1914.

In March the decrease from last year was 11.7 per cent.

Coming after the depressing March statistics, the April traffic movement helps to dull the edge of disappointment over March results and encourages the hope of a better future showing for April.

The average daily loaded car movement of the Pennsylvania railroad for this month is 22,700 cars.

This compares with 21,700 in March, an increase of about 13 per cent.

Compared with January, when the car movement was at its lowest, there has been a gain of 2,275 cars, or more than 11 per cent.

Whooping Cough.

About a year ago my three boys had whooping cough and I found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only one that would relieve their coughing and whooping spells. I continued this treatment and was surprised to find that it did stop the disease in a very short time," writes Mrs. Lydia Dillingham, Connellsville, Ohio.

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Carried Her Safely Through Change of Life.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"At the Change of Life the doctor said I would have to give up my work and take my bed for some time as there was no help for me but to lie still. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and kept up my work and now I am over the Change and that is all I took. It was better for me than all the doctor's medicines I tried. Many people have no faith in patent medicines but I know this is good," Mrs. E. J. Rickert, 338 8th Avenue, West, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

WIMLER TO MEET BRANNIGAN THIRD TIME ON THURSDAY

Boys Who Staged Fastest Bout in Pittsburgh to Box in Connellsville.

NEITHER MAE IS SATISFIED

Brannigan Given Newspaper Decision at Last Bout, but Wimler Believes He Can Win When They Meet Again Great Bout in Store For the Fans

The fight between Eddie Wimler and Paty Brannigan on Thursday night before the Connellsville Athletic Club is attracting more attention from fight fans than any bout previously arranged here. This is because the two boys fought such a rousing battle before a great house at the South Side market house, yesterday, several weeks ago. This is what Pharon Gibson, sporting writer in the Pittsburgh Post said about that battle:

"Beginning at a fast clip and working through five speedy rounds to a finish that raised the spectators to their feet and the roof from the rafters, Paty Brannigan and Eddie Wimler fought a battle in the South Side market house that should go down in history as a classic for a six-round encounter. Brannigan won, but not by a wide margin and he had to wage an uphill battle, fighting like a demon to gain the victory."

"There is no doubt that Brannigan caught a tartar in that little bundle of nerves and muscle from Paty when he was only his ring experience gained in many years' fighting that returned him the victor at the final bell."

"Going into the sixth round Brannigan was a trifle behind the prosecution. Wimler had gained command. In lead by his fine fighting in the second and third rounds and although Paty took the first two with his hands, quite caught up when the bell called them from their corners for the closing session. But he was a most indomitable person and met Wimler's attack, ringing it to shreds. He fought like a fiend in the warmest round that has been staged here in many moons and although Wimler was coming right at him and meeting him half way, he clearly outclassed Wimler in this closing heat, saving himself from defeat."

"This will be the third time the boys have斗ed. Wimler has never been satisfied with Paty's record and intends to register a victory over his red-headed opponent here. Brannigan says it can't be done, so the fans look for the best scrap ever pulled off here."

The Soisson

THE BLACK BOX TODAY.

The fifth episode of the famous serial "The Black Box" will be presented at the Soisson Theatre today. Herbert Rawlinson and Alice Little are the stars in this attraction and are making good. "The Ladder of Fortune" is a two-reel Rex drama with Ben Wilson and Dorothy Phillips in the leading roles. The splendid big "I" drama, "The Poor Within" is a most thrilling play. Fred Sterling appears in a hang-up comedy, "His Smashing Career," and will make them all laugh. Tomorrow, Herbert Kelcey and Eddie Shaskan are the star features in the new reel drama, "After the Ball." This is a $10,000 production.

The Colonial

This charming actress comes to the Colonial Tuesday in "The Womans of Virginia," a picturization by David Belasco's of W. C. DeMille's famous Civil War drama, said to be one of the best pictures ever released by the Paramount Corporation. Besides Miss Sweet, the cast includes the familiar figures Peters, P. Belmont, Lat. Reno, Sydney Duran, Mutual Van Buren, James Neil, Raymond Hatton, Lester Littlefield and others of equal note.

The action takes place during the close of the Civil War, giving opportunities for some of the most superb battle scenes ever produced. The show in its dramatic form ran for more than a year at the Helico Theatre in New York and is acknowledged to be the one great classic of the American Civil War.

The Arcade

Commencing with the matinee today the Clark Amusement Company, the new managers of the above theatre, will offer for the approval of its patrons another specially selected variety of vaudeville direct from the Harris Theatre of Pittsburgh, headed by those clever and refined barbershop singers, "The Three Troubadours," who have delighted their audience with their unique appearance. "Jocko Polk," that eccentric comedian, is sure to make you laugh in his own peculiar and original style and grande presement among his class of entertainers. "John Burroughs & Company" will present one of the funniest comedy skits in vaudeville, entitled "Married Life," and those contemplating such a step would do well to see John before it is too late. "Watson & Marshall," a team of artistic dancers, promises to execute many new achievements acquired by them in their "Act Beautiful." The very latest in the moving picture line can always be seen at the Arcade, where the pictures are changed every day, if you are fond of good vaudeville don't miss this opportunity. Some bill will be repeated tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings at the usual time.

The CZAR'S SPY

The Mystery of a Silent Lover

"Well, to tell you the truth, I'm mystified myself. I can't yet discern their motive."

"But at any rate you know the men?" I argued. "You can at least tell us who they really are."

"Where are you working?" I inquired.

"At the Restaurant Milano, in Oxford street—only a small place, but well光饰, good looking, housemaid whom he had married.

"Ah, signore!" he responded in a voice choked with emotion, dropping into Italian. "It is the one great sorrow of my life. I work hard from early morning until late at night, but what is the use when I see my poor wife gradually failing away before my very eyes? The doctor says that she cannot possibly live through the next winter. Ah! how delighted the poor girl would be if she could see the padrone again!"

"And her companion?"

"Middle-aged, prematurely gray, with a small dark mustache."

Jack Dorford sighed and stroked his chin.

"Ah! Just as I thought," he exclaimed. "And they were actually here in this port, a week ago! What a bitter irony of fate!

"I don't understand you," I said. "You are so mysterious and yet you will tell me nothing."

"The police took that they are here allowed them to escape, and they will never be caught now. Ah! you don't know them as I do! They are the cleverest pair in all Europe. And they have the audacity to call their craft the Lola—the Lola, of all names!"

Gordon let me frisk and open with you, my dear old fellow. I would tell you everything—everything—if I dared. But I cannot—you understand!" And his final words seemed to choke him.

I stood before him open mouthed in astonishment.

"You really mean—well that you are in fear of them—oh! I only per-

He nodded slowly in the affirmative adding, "To tell you the truth would be to bring upon myself a swift relentless vengeance that would overwhelm and crush me. Ah! my dear fellow, you do not know—you cannot dream—what brought those desperate men into this port. I can guess—I can know only too well—but I can only tell you that if you ever do discover the terrible truth—which I fear is unlikely—you will solve one of the strangest and most remarkable mysteries of modern times."

"What does the mystery concern?" I asked, in breathless eagerness.

"It concerns a woman."

CHAPTER III.

The House "Over the Water."

I had fled away a pleasant month up in Boston, and from there had gone north to the Lakes and it was one hot evening in mid August that I found myself again in London, crossing St James' square from the Sports Club I had just turned into Pall Mall when a vision at my elbow suddenly exclaims in Italian.

"Ah signore!—why, actually my patron!" He nodded slowly in the affirmative adding, "To tell you the truth would be to bring upon myself a swift relentless vengeance that would overwhelm and crush me. Ah! my dear fellow, you do not know—you cannot dream—what brought those desperate men into this port. I can guess—I can know only too well—but I can only tell you that if you ever do discover the terrible truth—which I fear is unlikely—you will solve one of the strangest and most remarkable mysteries of modern times."

"What does the mystery concern?" I asked, in breathless eagerness.

"It concerns a woman."

Olinto in surprise passed into the adjoining room, returning a moment later, exclaiming "Armidura must have gone out to get something. Or perhaps she is with the people, a compass and his wife, who lie on the floor below. They are very good to bar ill to and find her. Accommodate yourself with a chair, signore." And he drew the best chair forward for me, and seated it with his handkerchief.

I allowed him to go and seated her rather surprised that she should be well enough to get about after all he had told me concerning her illness. Yet consumption does not keep people in bed until its final stages!

Olinto returned in a few moments, saying that his wife had evidently gone to do some shopping in the Lower Marsh.

I hope you are not pressed for time, signore?" he said apologetically. "But, of course the poor girl does not know the surprise awaiting her. She will surely not be long."

"Then I'll wait," I said and flung myself back into the chair he had brought forward for me.

"I have nothing to offer you signor padrone," he said, with a laugh. "I did not expect a visitor, you know."

"No, Olinto. I've only just had dinner. But tell me how you have fared since you left me."

"Ah!" he laughed bitterly. "I had many ups and downs before I found myself here in London. The sea did not suit me—neither did the work. I managed to work my way from Genoa to London. My first place was scullion in a restaurant in Tottenham Court road. Afterwards I went to the Milano, and I hope to get into one of the big hotels very soon—or perhaps the grill-room at the Carlton."

"I'll see what I can do for you, signore," I said. "I know several hotel managers who might have a vacancy."

"Ah, signore!" he cried, filled with gratification. "If you only would! A word from you would secure me a good position. I can work that you know—and I do work. I will work—for her sake."

"Yes," he said in a hoarse voice, his manner suddenly changing. You have bought shown me, signore, that you are my friend, and I will, in return, show you that I am yours." And suddenly grasping both my hands he pulled me from the chair in which I was sitting, at the same time asking

"What?" He gasped suddenly turning pale, "the Lola?"

And looking around I saw a thin-faced man of about thirty dressed in neat but rather shabby black, whom I instantly recognized as a man who had been my servant in Lughorn for two years, after which he had left to better himself.

"Why, Olinto!" I exclaimed, surprised, as I halted. "You—in London—Well, and how are you getting on?"

"Most excellently, signore," he answered in broken English, smiling. "But it is so pleasant for me to see in a low intense whisper. "Do you always carry a revolver here in England as you do in Italy?"

"Yes," I answered in surprise at his action and his question. "Why?"

Because there is danger here," he answered in the same low earnest tone. "Get your weapon ready. You may want it."

"I don't understand," I said, feeling my hand Colt in my back pocket to make sure it was there.

"Forget what I have said—all—all that I have told you tonight, sir," he said. "I have not explained the whole truth. You are in peril—in deadly peril!"

"How?" I exclaimed breathlessly, surprised at his extraordinary change of manner and his evident apprehension lest something should befall me.

"Wait, and you shall see," he hissed.

"At the Restaurant Milano, in Oxford street—only a small place, but well光饰, good looking, housemaid whom he had married.

"Ah, signore!" he responded in a voice choked with emotion, dropping into Italian. "It is the one great sorrow of my life. I work hard from early morning until late at night, but what is the use when I see my poor wife gradually failing away before my very eyes? The doctor says that she cannot possibly live through the next winter. Ah! how delighted the poor girl would be if she could see the padrone again!"

"They are unknown, and for the present must remain so. But if you doubt your peril, watch—and taking the rusty telescope from the grating he carefully placed them on end in front of the deep old armchair in which I had sat, and then allowed them to fall against the edge of the seat, springing quickly back as he did so.

"My enemies! Who are they?"

But if you doubt your peril, watch—and taking the rusty telescope from the grating he carefully placed them on end in front of the deep old armchair in which I had sat, and then allowed them to fall against the edge of the seat, springing quickly back as he did so.

"A birthday party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes, the parents of his daughter, Frances Hayes. A faintly tuneful waltz was played. The honored guests were Anna Lynch, Nelson Cole, Clara Hirschberg, Leon Stewart Brown, Jessie Cole, Nina Goss, Nellie Cole, Edna Weller, Oliva McMichael, Robert Duffy, Helen Hopkins, Dewey Kerr, Allen Shirley, Annie Brown, Ethel Cole, Alphonse Winkler, Arthur Neale, Helen Lyons, Dorothy Neale, and Mrs. Edna Thorpe, all the grand parents of a baby, Tom.
